New Yorkers defend Chick-fil-A's right to sell delicious chicken

► Quinnipiac poll finds most city residents think chain known for anti-gay leadership has right to stay in business {page 02}

Penny for your thoughts?

From Aug. 8-12, Quinnipiac University in Connecticut surveyed 1,298 New York City registered voters.

Surveys were done by phone, either over landlines or by cell phones. There is a margin of error of +/- 2.7 percentage points for the poll.

On faith

► If a candidate for public office is a Mormon, would that make you more likely to vote for that candidate, less likely to vote for that candidate, or wouldn't it matter to your vote?

More likely: 2 percent
Less likely: 24 percent
Wouldn't matter: 70 percent
DK/NA: 4 percent

► If a candidate is an atheist?
More likely: 7 percent
Less likely: 30 percent
Wouldn't matter: 61 percent
DK/NA: 2 percent

► If a candidate is a born-again Christian?
More likely: 10 percent
Less likely: 27 percent
Wouldn't matter: 61 percent
DK/NA: 2 percent

► If a candidate is a Muslim?
More likely: 2 percent
Less likely: 19 percent
Wouldn't matter: 76 percent
DK/NA: 2 percent

Mayoral matters

If the 2013 Democratic primary for mayor were being held today, who would you vote for?

- 34 percent of registered Democrats were undecided
- 29 percent of registered Democrats said they would back Speaker Christine Quinn
- 10 percent for former City Comptroller William Thompson
- 9 percent for City Comptroller John Liu
- 9 percent for Public Advocate Bill de Blasio
- 4 percent for Manhattan Borough President Scott Stringer
- 1 percent for newspaper publisher Tom Allon, CEO of Manhattan Media, which publishes community newspapers The West Side Spirit and Our Town and political newspaper City Hall
- Someone else: 2 percent
- Wouldn't vote: 2 percent

Should the next mayor be someone with mostly business experience or mostly government experience?

In general, how satisfied are you with the way things are going in New York City today: are you very satisfied, somewhat satisfied, somewhat dissatisfied, or very dissatisfied?

Do you approve or disapprove of the way Michael Bloomberg is handling his job?

Approve: 51 percent
Disapprove: 40 percent
Don't know/Not answered: 9 percent

Bloomberg's approval rating has held steady at about 51 percent, unchanged, for the past three months.

Fair and fowl in chicken war

City weighs in on Chick-fil-A

► As you may know, the owner of Chick-fil-A has publicly expressed opposition to same-sex marriage. Do you think that should have an impact on their ability to obtain government permits to do business or not?
Yes: 12 percent
No: 82 percent
DK/NA: 6 percent

Should elected officials try to publicly discourage people from patronizing Chick-fil-A because of the owner's opinions on same-sex marriage or not?

► If the owner of a business publicly expresses an unpopular or controversial opinion, should that have an impact on their ability to obtain government

Only Quinn's feathers ruffled over Chick-fil-A controversy

Hey politicians, leave Chick-fil-A alone!

That's what the majority of New Yorkers said when asked their thoughts in a new Quinnipiac University poll, the results of which were released yesterday.

The vast majority of those polled — 82 percent — said they don't think comments Chick-fil-A president Dan Cathy made this summer against gay marriage should impact the chain's ability to receive government permits to operate.

And in a different question, 83 percent of the 1,298 people polled said they also disagreed with public officials who try to discourage people from patronizing Chick-fil-A because of Cathy's opinions.

That's in direct contrast to the stand City Council Speaker Christine Quinn made last month, when she asked New York University to close down the Chick-fil-A on their campus due to Cathy's comments.

"We are not going to ... patronize businesses that do not reflect the diversity and openness of our great city," read a petition Quinn launched in July, demanding that Cathy "apologize and change his position."

That same day, Quinn also sent a letter to NYU President John Sexton, asking the school to sever its contract with Chick-fil-A.

But according to yesterday's poll, only 12 percent of New Yorkers agreed with Quinn.

"New Yorkers may disagree with what you say, but they defend your right to sell chicken," quipped Maurice Carroll, Quinnipiac University Polling Institute director.

Quinn later slightly clarified her comments, saying she was criticizing Chick-fil-A as a private citizen and not as an elected official. ● CARLY BALDWIN

The bondage scene: More than mommy porn fodder

► Meet the 'sexual minorities' of New York ► BDSM fans hope curiosity of the lifestyle will combat stigma ► Fetish-seekers shed light on the scene

After the sensational story of a hot-blooded breakup between a young Manhattan sex slave and her high-powered CEO master — coupled with the popularity of "Fifty Shades of Grey" — curiosity is on the upswing about New York City's underground fetish world.

And it's prompting those who live it to speak out.

The city plays host to dozens of sex clubs, both public and private, visited by thousands of people looking to quench their sexual desires. Though the mainstream perception of BDSM (bondage, dominance, sadism, masochism) and S&M (sado-masochism) is a sexual free-for-all, those who practice it say a relationship formed within these communities is just like any other.

"People fail to realize that BDSM is just a microcosm of the population as a whole," Guy Sanders, spokesperson for The Eulenspiegel Society, a BDSM education and support group, told Metro. "It's kind of like how being gay was years ago. Because people have formulated their own opinions about you and what you are, it's not prudent to allow your sexual history to come out."

And many more Americans have engaged in some type of BDSM sex play than one may realize: According to the 1993 Janus Report on Sexual Behavior, 14 percent of men and 11 percent of women in the U.S. have experienced a sado-masochist sexual experience.

But don't expect those involved in such relationships to be very forthcoming about it.

The stigma that surrounds alternative sexuality makes many of those who practice it keep it under wraps.

"One in three people who are kinky are persecuted. That could be losing a job or losing child custody to having troubles with your family," Susan Wright from the National Coalition for Sexual Freedom said.

And she applauds books like the "Fifty Shades" for making bondage sex more accepted — or at least, easier to experiment with.

"[Fifty Shades] has been wonderful publicity for the BDSM community," Wright said. "I'm hoping ... that it will become tolerated that people have kinky elements to their sexual relationships."

BDSM and S&M relationships can be monogamous or polyamorous, meaning couples either swing together or both partners share other lovers. And insiders said plenty of solid relationships and marriages exist among community members.

"It's not all whips and chains and sleeping around," Sanders said. "There is a love and commitment in these relationships."

Bondage breakup in the spotlight

In a real-life "Fifty Shades of Grey" scenario, Frankie Santiago, 27, submitted to daily whippings from her 53-year-old lover, Edward Sonderling.

That is, until Santiago discovered that Sonderling had recruited a new apprentice to replace her and, in response, sent him more than 40 text messages over a 12-day period. She was arrested Monday and charged with stalking, according to the Post.

BDSM-based relationships are not immune to jealousy or messy breakups, but bondage community members say they hope the media attention to this case will combat stigma.

"I don't see any difference between the vanilla community and this community in terms of what people are looking for, or in terms of whether or not you're stable," said Mazie, a Staten Island-based fetish community member. ● METRO/CG

Inside New York City's BDSM scene

BDSM community member Mazie compared S&M to a runner's high, saying it's "euphoria that results from a chemical release in the brain from dealing with something that hurts."

The city has dozens of outlets for people looking to get kinky. The Eulenspiegel Society, a BDSM education and support group, hosts events from lingerie parties to workshops on using needles for sexual pleasure.

BDSM activities could include blindfolding, handcuffing, biting, interrogation, spanking, suspension, role playing or "fear play," where one partner exploits the other partner's fear or phobia.

"Nobody does anything more than the other person wants done," Sanders said.

Fetish-seekers also find each other at private parties hosted at homes or sex clubs like Paddles on West 26th St. The New York Bondage Club hosts weekly events for men that include dungeons, bondage tables and tension hoist ropes. Novices and experts are invited to "play or watch" to experience "pleasure or pain." ● METRO/CG

Chris Brown, Drake named in $16M club suit

Rappers Chris Brown and Drake may have to pay the price after a claim they started a fight in a Manhattan nightclub in June.

The two were named in a $16 million lawsuit filed yesterday that claims they started the bottle-throwing brouhaha at joint clubs Greenhouse and WiP, according to the New York Post.

The two rappers are accused of "gross negligence," "ultra-hazardous activity" and "intentional illegal acts."

In papers filed in Manhattan Supreme Court, Entertainment Enterprises Ltd. states that Brown and Drake had a grudge against each other stemming from their romantic relationships with Rihanna.

According to the suit, both men arrived at the clubs each "with his own small army of bodyguards, 'security' personnel, employees, friends and other members of their entourage, consisting of at least 15 heavily built men trained and/or experienced in hand-to-hand and weapons combat."

When the fight erupted, the two dueling crews used what they could find as weapons.

"On defendant Brown and

defendant Drake's instructions, their two posses had at each other, throwing highball glasses laden with alcohol, shattering the handles of bottles of spirits to use as makeshift knives and even throwing bottles at each other," the suit read, according to the New York Post.

Among those injured was basketball player Tony Parker. Parker has filed his own suit against Greenhouse and WiP over the incident, demanding $20 million.

Fully loaded. Heart

► The heart was out yesterday to garner attention for "Bodies ... The Exhibition."

It's not everyday one sees a giant replica of a human heart riding the New York Water Taxi. The massive replica of one of our most important organs was loaded onto the water taxi yesterday at the South Street Seaport and ferried across New York Harbor to raise publicity for "Bodies ... The Exhibition."

Ironman's high price tag may spell race's demise

NEW YORK. The Ironman triathlon's first appearance in the New York area may be its last after the company raised the entry fee to $1,200.

"This race may be one and done," John Korff, the event's local organizer, said yesterday. "The price is too high."

Ironman suspended registration for the 2013 race on Aug. 13, citing feedback from customers and the logistics of staging the race in the New York metropolitan area. The inaugural race was held Aug. 11, with a fee of $825.

37 The new price of $1,200 is a 37 percent increase over this year's fee of $825.

"Operating one of these races in a major metropolitan area carries a pretty significant price tag," Shane Facticeu, Ironman's vice president of North American operations, said.

Pattinson dodging breakup questions

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

► This is just the way we like our Pattinson: pouty and bed-headed.

With his latest film, "Cosmopolis," set to hit theaters Friday, Robert Pattinson — who has never been one to talk about his personal life — has been at the mercy of the media. He eased into things Monday with "The Daily Show," where Jon Stewart playfully offered him a pint of breakup Ben & Jerry's before obediently asking him about the film that no one cared about.

But "Good Morning America" host George Stephanopoulos wasn't about to let dignity get in his way yesterday morning. After Pattinson didn't voluntarily offer any details about how he's coping after the Kristen Stewart cheating scandal, Stephanopoulos pressed, "What do you want your fans to know about what's going on in your personal life?" Pattinson finally offered some insight: "I'd like my fans to know that Cinnamon Toast Crunch is just 130 calories."

We're pretty sure this is as close as we're ever going to get to eating breakfast with Robert Pattinson. And we'll take it — even if he does pour a skimpy little bowl of Cinnamon Toast Crunch.

Aniston's rocking a major rock

Jennifer Aniston has been hiding her engagement ring, but that won't stop us from talking about it. According to Life & Style, fiancé Justin Theroux is significantly poorer this week.

"It's a huge emerald-cut diamond," a "friend" of the couple tells the magazine of the 8-carat rock. "It's a rectangle with tapered diamond baguettes on the sides."

We already feel creepy talking about this, so sure, let's go for broke: Angelina Jolie is wearing a similarly cut engagement ring from Aniston's ex, Brad Pitt.

God save the trashy cousin

Kate Middleton's cousin, Katrina Darling, graces the cover of September's Playboy. While the burlesque dancer — who was paid a six-figure sum for the eight-page pictorial — doesn't have the face of Kate or the rear view of Pippa, she is willing to lay naked on a sheepskin rug and say things like this: "Burlesque is a platform for me to explore these kinds of things. The more into it the audience is, the more into it I am."

► Katrina Darling's curtsy requires a little cropping.

10 REASONS TO KICK IT AT THE MOVIES

MARY CYBULSKI

1 'The Expendables 2'

Although no longer the director, Sylvester Stallone once again leads an ensemble cast of some of the biggest action stars from the past three decades (Jason Statham, Bruce Willis, Jean-Claude Van Damme, to name a few) in this testosterone-fueled romp about a group of world-class mercenaries. Chuck Norris and Arnold Schwarzenegger (reprising the role he took during his "Governator" days) also make appearances.

2 'ParaNorman'

In the tradition of quirky, supernatural children's films comes "ParaNorman," a stop-motion flick about Norman, a boy who can speak to ghosts and is tasked with saving his town from an uprising of the dead. Chris Butler, who also served in the art departments of "Corpse Bride" and "Coraline," directs the movie.

3 'Sparkle'

This film stars Whitney Houston — in her last performance on the big screen before her death — as the overbearing Emma, a single mother raising Sparkle (Jordin Sparks) and two other daughters who dream of stardom as a singing trio. But Emma's own previous fame as a singer and the three sisters' growing popularity threaten to tear the family apart.

4 'The Bourne Legacy'

The "Bourne" franchise gets yet another installment, this one starring budding action star Jeremy Renner as the new protagonist, deadly government operative Aaron Cross.

5 'The Campaign'

Incumbent North Carolina Congressman Cam Brady (Will Ferrell) receives a challenge from corporate puppet Marty Huggins (Zach Galifianakis) for re-election.

6 'Hope Springs'

This dramedy stars Meryl Streep and Tommy

Lee Jones as empty-nesters struggling to find intimacy in their marriage.

7 'Total Recall'

Colin Farrell stars as lowly factory worker Douglas Quaid, who uses Rekall in order to escape his mundane life. However, the procedure malfunctions and Quaid questions what is real and what is illusion in this sci-fi thriller.

8 'Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Dog Days'

In the third movie based on Jeff Kinney's wildly popular books of the same name, Zachary Gordon reprises his role as Greg Heffley.

9 'The Watch'

A group of bored, suburban dads band together to form a neighborhood watch group. But then an alien invasion forces them to go from protecting the neighborhood to protecting the world.

10 'Step Up Revolution'

The next installment in the "Step Up" series places Emily — the daughter of a wealthy businessman — in the heart of Miami, where she falls in love with a fellow dancer. METRO

— Data collected from users on Wotwentwrong.com

HEIDI PATALANO
heidi.patalano@metro.us

► Did your last date end in radio silence — or some lame excuse you didn't believe? ► Here's a solution

Despite the long list of ways a person can be dumped, it's often the case that no actual breakup happens at all. Ending a relationship with unreturned phone calls or unanswered texts is sadly the norm.

Audrey Melnik, CEO of Wotwentwrong.com, had enough of that. Fed up with the anguish she and her friends experienced when they were kicked to the curb with no explanation, she was determined to find a productive method of getting feedback from those who had ended things. The result is a website that helps the dumped compose what Melnik describes as a "nonchalant, not clingy" e-mail that politely asks the one who did the dumping for full disclosure.

"The tone that I wanted to set pretty much throughout all of it is: 'I'm not trying to get back together with you; I just want to know so I can not make that mistake in the future and improve the next time," Melnik explains.

Users can select from a number of tones — from flip-pant to flattering, philosophical to sincere — from which to compose their e-mail to the ex-mate from whom they're seeking an answer. The site provides text like, "Going out with you was fun for me, and I believed for a while that it was also fun for you. Since I haven't heard from you for a while, I'm assuming things have changed. It would really be great if you could give me some feedback on what went wrong."

Customize the message however you see fit, and it gets sent off to the object of your unrequited affection. Melnik so far has been pleased with the results. ### There's a full moon on the right from the inside out — just not fast enough.

RE: "NO WAKE-UP ALARM NEEDED, THANKS" (METRO, AUG. 15) Mr. Tordoff shows why the left wing does have contempt for people who misconstrue them as "lunatics" with "delusional worldviews" by espousing the right-wing mantra of blowharding with rhetorical right hooks while offering no solutions, a la Fox News and the GOP, respectively. Leftists listen to our economists (stimulus spend), our best scientific minds (climate change) and our religious leaders (take care of the less fortunate). What is lunacy is governing by recklessly and viciously feeding on racism induced by hyperbole, such as "the illegals are taking our jobs." The new, extreme right-wing ideology is like a pathogenic virus, killing its host

COREY SAGENICH, VIA E-MAIL

Taking shelter from the (tax) storm

RE: "AMERICANS NEED TO JUMP OFF THE WAGON" (METRO, AUG. 15) Mr. McLaughlan clearly has it all wrong. Obama is not a socialist; he is a corporate lackey, just like the Republicans are. The top 1 percent have $32 trillion in offshore accounts so as to evade taxation, yet they are paying the lowest taxes ever. The banks and motor car companies got bailed out, to the tune of $13 trillion, using taxpayers' money (that is socialist and that is definitely riding the handouts bandwagon). Republicans claim to be champions of free markets and capitalism, yet they won't let the banks and the rich hedge-funders fail, while small business owners are left to their own devices. That's corporate socialism.

GARY LYON, NYC

Rich, richer and Sir Richard Branson

I am quite looking forward to Sir Richard Branson's upcoming edition of Metro. It will be a welcome change to hear from a real success story, versus a fake one like a certain GOP candidate.

JOSEPH CONNELL, BROOKLYN

Never let the facts get in the way ...

Guess all the Fox News viewers missed the two studies done last spring that showed that people who watched Fox

News were the most misinformed on basic facts of all the study participants. Here are some facts for you: Greece can't control its currency, but the U.S. can, and tax cheating by the rich in Greece has been rampant for decades. Also, we can add the oil industry to the list of those that don't pull their weight and cut off their subsidies.

KATHY KOURIAN, VIA E-MAIL

The sick man of Europe — and US

RE: "OBAMA'S CAP HAS GOT MORE FEATHERS" (METRO, AUG. 15) Mr. Dourdis assigns praise to Mr. Obama for "creating" jobs. Get the facts right, please. The "jobs" created are based on the changing unemployment numbers, which may be lower when people do not get free checks and therefore are not being counted as part of those looking for work. The jobs he has created are in big government. Socialism is failing in Europe, so why bring it here?

JOHN MIELACH, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. The only way you are going to be able to advance your self-interest is to be bold when fate requires it. Have faith in yourself and your abilities to get things done.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. You have a lot of extra pluses going for you, some you might not even be aware of. However, everything will be there for you the moment you need it.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Agreements you make involving friends will benefit both you and your pals. If you negotiate with an eye on everyone's profit, things will work out exceptionally well.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. You're likely to get a marvelous opportunity to strengthen your position in a critical area that has a big influence on your work or career. Don't let it escape you.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. By merely doing what you do best, which is getting along well with people from all walks of life, your probabilities for success are considerably enhanced.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Keep a weather eye peeled on a new development that has possibilities of providing you with a second source of income. It might be revealed to you quite soon.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Your skills as a salesperson or promoter can be considerably enhanced through some type of verbal or written communication. Let your thoughts be known.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Don't be dismayed if you get off to a slower start than you had anticipated. The closer you get to the finish line, the stronger you'll become.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. It behooves you to keep all of your lines of communication open, because there's a good chance you will be hearing from someone who has the good news that you've been waiting for.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Don't get upset if you are subjected to a change that is instigated by an outside force. What occurs is apt to end up being very favorable for you.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Do not waste your time on insignificant matters. You're likely to be far more fortunate with issues, projects or endeavors that are substantial and meaningful.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. You're likely to be far luckier in your commercial and financial dealings than you would be with projects or endeavors that are less monetary in nature. Capitalize while you can.

Jane's prediction

► Perry Farrell on what he learned about business from Timothy Leary
 ► His innovative idea for the Hollywood Walk of Fame
 ► Catch Jane's Addiction live with Die Antword

Perry Farrell has being a rock star down. After all these years, the public face of being in a rock band is second nature to the Jane's Addiction frontman and Lollapalooza auteur.

"I learned something from Tim Leary," he confides. We sit up, prepared for something juicy from the psychedelic guru. But we didn't get it. Leary, it seems, was all about the business.

"He told me that really what you're after is a sound byte," says Farrell.

We are?

"If you can have one sentence, a 30-second sound byte that sticks in people's minds, then you've done your job."

We have?

"That's what everyone is looking for, that's what the interviewer wants. So, when I speak to people it's almost like I'm writing poetry, like I'm writing a sound byte that will be memorable!"

Have we had ours?

"I think we did something pretty remarkable, talking about the Walk of Fame and the RF [radio frequency] chip," interjects Farrell.

He's right; earlier Farrell talked about Jane's Addiction's inclusion in the 2013 inductees to the Hollywood Walk of Fame and his interactive idea for Jane's star — and perhaps the future of the famous stretch.

"I'd like to put an RF chip in our star so that when people walk over our star they can hear music or see pictures on their phone. I've got to approach the board about it, but it would revolutionize the Walk of Fame."

Get uplifted uptown

Every Sunday morning at Ginny's Supper Club (the recently minted venue downstairs from Harlem restaurant Red Rooster) diners are serenaded by Vy Higginson's Gospel for Teens Choir, a program that trains local teens in the high-energy art of gospel singing.

The soul food brunch is served buffet-style from 11 a.m. and includes Red Rooster's signature fried Yardbird served over waffles and maple syrup, biscuits and gravy, chilled salmon, house-baked sweet rolls and, of course, red velvet cupcakes. Brunch, with three performances, is $35 a person. www.redroosterharlem.com/ginny

Free sips during Summer Streets

This Saturday is your last chance to take advantage of Summer Streets: From 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. a 7-mile stretch of Park Ave. to Lafayette St. will be closed to traffic and opened to bikers, joggers, skateboarders and strollers of both the carrying-a-baby and carrying-a-latte varieties. Along the way, stop at The Smile at 26 Bond St. (www.thesmilenc.com) to sample the new brunch menu — we like their sliced summer peaches over house made ricotta and rosemary honey. And if you mention "Summer Streets" to your server before 1 p.m., you'll get a mimosa or bloody mary on the house.

Old Bay for days

If you haven't yet had the chance to get handsy with a pile of crabs this summer, don't fret. From Sept. 7-9, the second annual Hammer & Claw all-you-can-eat crabstravaganza will be held in the Tunnel Space of the Terminal Stores building in Chelsea. Tickets are $89 per person, $45 for kids aged 6-12 (kids 5 and under eat free). Proceeds will benefit the Chesapeake Bay Foundation. For tickets and a helpful "how-to" video on shelling crabs, visit www.hammerandclaws.com.

Harvest on the Hudson

► Just a few miles north of the city is a rich network of farmers, cheesemakers, vintners and distillers ► As the harvest hits its peak, it's the perfect time to visit the source of your Greenmarket's greatest hits

Buttermilk Falls Inn and Spa in Milton, New York, offers an almost total immersion in the farm-to-table experience, with less plow-pushing and more glass-raising — let's call it farm-to-spa. The Inn is located on 75 acres overlooking the Hudson that encapsulate an organic garden, an aviary, hiking paths and ponds. Roaming is encouraged.

Guests are free to pick at will from the fruit trees planted throughout the property: granny smith apples, donut peaches, shiso plums. And Buttermilk's full-service spa with a sauna, steam room and pool is housed in an open glass building, so you don't have to tear yourself away from the spectacular scenery. Local wines, by the glass or bottle, can be ordered to your deck chair.

The Inn's restaurant, Henry's at the Farm, uses ingredients from the onsite organic garden to create farm-fresh cuisine as well as cocktails incorporating the latest fruit and herb harvests. A recent visit brought us a shiso plum- and vanilla-infused vodka cocktail thickened with fresh plum puree. "We do whatever we can with what we have," our waiter told us.

Newly appointed head chef Chad Greer has been on a strictly seasonal schedule since assuming his role at Henry's, constantly adapting the menu to reflect what's fresh. Greer and his wife, previously based in Manhattan, fell in love with the Hudson Valley after skydiving in the area. Eight years ago, they moved to Ulster County permanently.

"I've developed a lot of relationships with farmers up here. I have my favorite potato farmer, my favorite tomato farmer, greens, everything. This is literally my eighth season in this area, and so there are farmers I've been buying lettuce from for that long."

Breakfast is served on the Inn's stone patio; it incorporates eggs from the chickens kept on the property (who are fed kitchen scraps), as well as house-made breads, sour cream waffles and frittatas.

Although Chef Greer enjoys cooking with the bold, sweet flavors of the property's summer harvest, he's looking forward to the cooler months.

"In this area, fall's probably the most exciting. We get a lot of 'leaf-peepers,'" he says. Greer anticipates a rush on butternut squash soup. "I just can't stop making it. I make the soup and my wife makes banana bread, and we turn those into croutons."

Do you suffer from CHRONIC LOW BACK PAIN?

Learn about an investigational once-a-day pain medication.

Local doctors are currently conducting a clinical trial of an investigational once-a-day pain medication for patients who have been medically diagnosed with moderate to severe chronic low back pain.

To pre-qualify for this trial, patients must:

- Be at least 18 years of age
- Have a diagnosis of moderate to severe chronic low back pain, not due to cancer or injury to nerves, as a primary pain condition for at least three months prior to participating in this trial
- Be currently taking one or more medication(s) for chronic low back pain
- Have chronic low back pain which is currently uncontrolled by their stable pain medication regimen

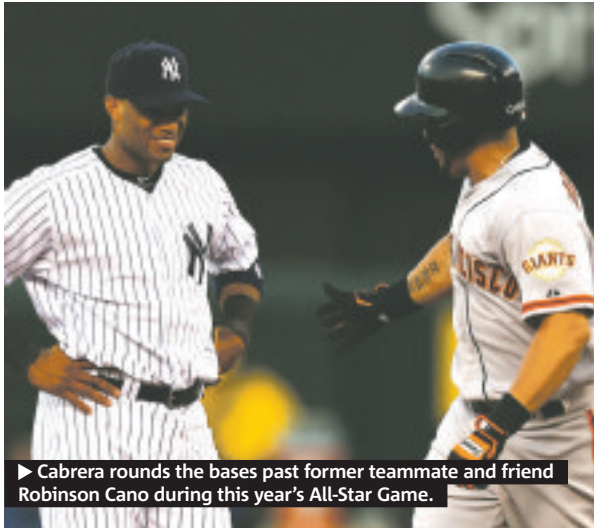

All trial-related visits, tests, and medications will be provided to participants at no cost. In addition, compensation for time and/or travel may be provided.

► Cabrera rounds the bases past former teammate and friend Robinson Cano during this year's All-Star Game.

Melk-man busted: Yanks talk suspension

Melky Cabrera was a Yankee from 2005-2009 and along the way forged close friendships with teammates Alex Rodriguez, Robinson Cano and Derek Jeter while helping the team to a World Series title.

Three years after that World Series, Cabrera blossomed into the star many projected he was going to be for the Giants. Cabrera's stardom was derailed yesterday when it was announced he tested positive for elevated amounts of testosterone.

Cabrera will be suspended for 50 games.

"It's disappointing," manager Joe Girardi said. "Obviously Melky means a lot to all of us as far as our championship. He provided some really good moments here. It's something that you don't ever want to have to deal with, and it's something that baseball's trying to stay away from, but it happens."

Cano was relaxing at his corner locker when the news flashed over the clubhouse televisions. He did not say much but expressed complete surprise at this turn for his close friend.

"Oh, 100 percent surprised," Cano said. "I was just here in my chair when I [was] watching the news. I don't know, man. I never used any of those. I don't know any details about it. I just see the news. I'm just sad about it and I'm going to be there for him."

In the news

Nadal out

Rafael Nadal announced on Twitter yesterday he will not play in this year's U.S. Open.

Nadal lost in the second round of last month's Wimbledon and has not played since. The nagging knee injury also caused him to miss the Olympics, where he was the defending gold medalist.

His only U.S. Open title came in 2010. This year's tournament begins on Aug. 27.

NFL news

Witten woe

Jason Witten hasn't missed a game since 2003. That streak is now jeopardy after he damaged his spleen on Monday night. He won't need surgery but his return time takes him very close to Week 1. Even if Witten makes it back for the opener, he's wearing down at age 30. Aaron Hernandez, Jermichael Finley and Fred Davis are better tight ends.

TURN FLIERS INTO GOLD

Fantasy sports

ADAM LEVITAN

ALEVITAN@METRO.U.S

teams use at least three of them every Sunday and guys can come from way off the radar — like Jordy Nelson and Victor Cruz last season.

This year, it's worth rolling the dice on the young studs in elite passing offenses. Brandon LaFell is locked into the No. 2 job in Carolina. The Packers won't be able to keep Randall Cobb's raw talent off the field. Titus Young is tearing the cover off Lions camp and Kendall Wright is poised to take advantage of Kenny Britt's various issues.

Depth and trade bait

At other positions, we're less likely to turn late-round lottery tickets into gold. But we can build our depth for bye weeks.

At tight end, second-year man Kyle Rudolph has been the unquestioned star of Vikings camp. He's playing the same position that tight end Aaron Hernandez plays in New England. Coby Fleener is getting all the hype in Indy, but fellow rookie Dwayne Allen is the every-down guy.

Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not waste picks late in fantasy drafts.

After we've established our starters and prime bench, the draft is far from over. We can still mine the field for lottery tickets:

Pick up the receiver

Oftentimes, the best fliers are wideouts. That's because most

Wasted fliers

Ronnie Brown

RB, Chargers

Ryan Mathews (clavicle) is only expected to miss one or two games and Brown has nothing left in the tank.

Danny Amendola

WR, Rams

The Rams are going to a run-heavy offense and Amendola has no after-the-catch skills. Avoid all wideouts in STL.

Top MLB pickups

1

Grant Balfour, RP, OAK — Ryan Cook lost the strike zone and lost his job. Balfour has the closer's gig and is humming along for a team that plays plenty of close games.

2

Manny Machado, SS, BAL — The No. 3 overall pick in the 2010 draft smacked three homers and drove in seven runs in his first five big-league games. The 20-year-old is for real.
